FROM THE MAIN FACTORY
TO THE RACETRACK

Porsche is constructing the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup on the same production line at the Stuttgart-Zuffenhausen headquarters as the elfer road drivers. At the Motorsport centrum Weissach, he receives a basic tuning for the racetrack and is tested intensively before delivery to the customers by a professional racing driver. Since 1998 there have been manufactured 3,031 copies of the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup of the model generations 996, 997 and 991. This makes the brand-name cup car from Stuttgart the most popular and most sold GT racing car in the world.

Like its great role model from Zuffenhausen, the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup from PLAYMOBIL is a pure-bred racing vehicle. After the development in Zirndorf, the Porsche 911 GT3 Cup is manufactured in the Franconian Dietenhofen. The majority of the PLAYMOBIL play worlds are produced there, including the miniature Porsche. From the factory in Dietenhofen, it goes off to the racetrack in every child's playground - where brave racing drivers can test it by themselves.
